Environmental Protection

For the past few years, I have not touched or used a single plastic water bottle. This is true, and probably saves my parents enough money to buy greener material. I got my water from the water fountain at school or at home. We drink water that we boil ourselves. Occasionally, I would drink the filtered water.