PEACE AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Donna Jane B. Boy
Computer Science Department
Universidad de Zamboanga-Ipil
Zamboanga Sibugay Province, Philippines

For the world to have peace, everyone must strive to attain it. Education can serve as tool for peace because if the society is educated and aware of the existing laws and rights that they have, they will be appropriately act and obey rules.

Peace may be conveyed in our day to day life. The daily struggles and hardships encountered due to poverty should be the motivating factor that all of us must live life in peaceful ways in order to advance economically. Progress will not be obtained in a war-stricken area as we have witnessed nations in chaos.

Let's keep peace in our community and start peace within ourselves by being kind, considerate, and sensitive to others' needs, respecting others' belief and obeying rules and regulations.

We may differ in culture, religion, profession, intellectual level and even economic stature but we are one and the same because we are created in the image and likeness of our Creator.