Peace and Human Rights

By: Fetros, Aimee Lorraine
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

The absence of violence or other disturbances within a state. It is important for us students to have an integral understanding of human rights and to reject all forms of repressions and discrimination.

We should be willing to take action to contribute to the shaping of our society characterized by justice, non-violence and well being. Understanding of different diversity can manage equality to all individuals who showed to transform themselves to live as a better. They are related because how can we pursue the said aimed to have harmonious way of living if we will not use it as a guide.

Let us consider that the most appreciation will come if you automatically belong to everyone.