

“Peace”

By: Kevin Francisco, AE Memorial Science High School
Zamboanga City, Philippines

When people go to war, they often emphasize peace as their reason. We must realize peace is a journey, not an end. Yet, in our work to acquire peace, we do not do nice things oftentimes. Instead of seeking inner peace, we neglect to help one another to spread the word peace on others, and that just does not work. Peace is a gift, blessing or a virtue that you can give to others and to yourself.

If you seek peace with a sincere heart, you can obtain it or find it. Sometimes, you need deep thoughts and some good things to bring you to peace. Sometimes, you need thoughts that are not so deep. Sometimes, just a good book or good virtue dealing with the topic of peace is exactly what you need.

If you are looking such a good book on peace, try peace works. It illustrates the will to help you on your journey of peace. Even the price is high, have one and you will be on your way toward an existence that is both more peaceful and more joyous.

You can find peace, even though it is elusive. But, you have to know where to look.

We live in uncertain times. We cannot depend on anything anymore, whether it be profits from blue-chip stocks, seasonal weather or security in our own hometowns. More than ever, we crave peace, we want to know that everything will be okay and the happiness is just around the corner.

Then there is war everywhere. Not only one place, but in our own hearts and minds. With or without weapon in our own hands, we are fighting hard, increasing enemy on earth.

Some days , people are afraid to fly. Afraid to spend their own money. Afraid to lose their own jobs. Afraid. Afraid to get sick. Afraid to go out. Afraid to stay at home. Afraid that life is passing them by before they have had a chance to live it.

It is time to stop fighting. Be at peace. Do not be shy or afraid to show peace. We must forget our shyness and to be afraid. We must abandon our fear. Each person must help another to be at peace. The road to peace is our heart. God is our companion when we explain about what is peace. My article is about peace so how can you show “peace”?