

Taiwan is one of the best countries in the world I have ever seen. Some people like to stay here because of its convenience, and the environment is very nice and beautiful too.

Their government has no corruption and I think that's why they can build up so many buildings and factories. They have a good policy and regulations to the people.

Taiwan is a peaceful country. The people have unity to each other that's why it becomes more progressive and successful.

I love Taiwan!!

Honestly speaking, my first impression to my employer when I met them, I was got worried because they are strangers to me, but I tried to get acquainted with them. And I found out that my employers are indeed very nice, kind, respectful and they treat me as their family.

Sometimes when I do something wrong, my ma'am always tells me in a nice way. She doesn't get angry with me. I just hope their goodness will be continued.

Their family living is simple and I like them, for me all I can say is they are very good employers.
