

After watching the film and listening to the songs, I'm afraid about what will happen to the next generations.

We should love the nature especially the trees and the animals. We should respect the dos and don'ts about the rules of how to perfect the environment. We can improve our environment and protect them by loving and take good care of our nature – the trees & animal