

World Hunger

Being hunger is probably the most painful thing in the whole world. The feeling of your stomach getting from apart is the worst thing that can happen to you. We live in a society and a time period that lucking does not let us suffer from hunger. What we have to realize is that millions of people from around the world are dying each day because of hunger. What can we do about it! You might ask. Now I will tell you a few things that we can easily do to save others from dying of hunger. What we do is save a small amount of money each day and at the end of month just donate the money to the UN.
