

Chenot Yann

I was born in 1990, my mother is Taiwanese and my father is French, though I am in the relationships between Taiwan and France, I'm really proud of my Taiwanese roots, I think today Taiwan should be considered as a developed country and also should be represented in the United Nation as well as the WTO officially. There are no direct relationships between France and Taiwan (no diplomatic relationships for instance). My greatest hope would be that such relationships will change in a close future.
