

Joseph Chen

I think human need to use the natural resource wisely. The massive amount of Co2 emission cause sea-level rise and it results some island cover under the ocean. Those native island residents lost their home and prosperity. If you don't want to see other people suffer in agony then start caring about global warming and environment.