

HUMAN RIGHTS AND PEACE

Dorothy Joy M. Dalmacio

Ph.D Student

Graduate School

Universidad de Zamboanga

Zamboanga City, Philippines

Urbanization, modernization, and globalization greatly affects the individuals innate characteristics. The influx of today's modern world deprive not only the peace that we have but of the rights that we own. We individuals ask ourselves "what is our right"? – right to live, to gain freedom and to have the independence that we want?. We compel alone in the world from the time we were born and from the moment we started to think. As the door open to its mirror of great democracy, people trudge themselves with dignity and principles in their hands. We wonder how life would be when ther is no order and the bills that talks about human rights.

"What would be the façade of the world without peace". In this case, a very good example of this is the recent unresolved case of bombing in our city last August 5, 2010, tyranny and continuous deliberate combat between military and the terrorists, tyranny and unstoppable revengeful acts of the people of Mampang and the awful tragedy that destroys the life of each citizen. How do we find peace? How do we end each problem faced by the city and our country? How can we stop the bare cry of the people? How?. It is hard to find peace in our country especially with those deep anger within them. Peace is what our world needs, without peace the world of ours is of great debacle. In contrast, peace is something in the world could not fully offer because of those people who were manipulating their lives into doomed dessert. People do sometime find it hard to find peace not just because they don't want others to pass their capabilities of governing the state but of the authority they want to grasp – the power of ruling everything.

Peace may be sometimes a thing not to be understood right away, peace can sometimes be the haven of wellness and of healthy lifestyle. Once we own that peace, our world is like full of surprises with nothing to encumber about, a sanctuary of people where they will live with happiness and of serene eden. We manage to develop our countryland by delving into our human rights. Rights, independence, freedom, justice, this four things should be given to a person freely and knowingly without hesitation. As we walk here in this land of ours, we had already the rights rooted in us. Our existence was with vast of eternal freedom but sometimes this freedom has its limitations. Abortion, in vitro fertilization and stem cell technology govern the world high technology of implanting seed in a person and expulsing life in ours. In my own viewpoint, I am against abortion for the reason that it ravages the right of the fetus to live and gain the life that GOD has given. In contrary, followers of having abortion treats it as a legal action for reasons like: overpopulation, freedom of choice and that sometimes can save the life of the mother when her life is in danger. In some countries, abortion is legal but not in the Philippines. In vitro fertilization for me destroys human life and procreating life without the judgment of GOD. Stem cell technology is like cloning process wherein you are crossing the creation of God's gift.

Human rights and peace are broad discussion in the development of today's societal role. In behalf of this essay, being a nurse one must take note of every detail of the patient and their rights to be served and cared for. How important does our human rights and peace to us? It's existence in this world can't hardly be explained in any broad explanation. Take importance of our rights, give them time for it's a sense of testimony that we really are humans, don't let others violate your rights and don't allow them to take advantage of it. Peace could be so hard to achieve but sometimes it is the easiest pleasure we had gain from others.

“Find peace for it will give you amazing twist”

“Be your own, don't let others deprive what's within you, take anything but at least don't leave nothing”