

HUMAN RIGHTS

Dr. Wilfrido M. Manalo

Faculty

School of Education, Arts and Science

Universidad de Zamboanga

Zamboanga City, Philippines

When we say Human Rights, the very idea comes into my mind is the free will to do something, our desire or freedom enjoyed by every individual. Among countries in Asia, Philippines is the champion of Human Rights based on the survey.

In our society, a lot of Filipinos who committed crimes, such as killings, kidnappings, corruptions and other illegal practices that are supposed and to receive the punishment of death penalty were not given because of Human Rights that are imposed in our society. These people were placed under custody or even pass the Supreme Court for judgments. Some were imprisoned for few years and individuals who belongs to the upper class, with high position in the society and have connections with top officials in the government were given special treatment inside the prison cells.

The implementation of Human Rights in our society will only add or increase more problems and crimes committed will increase every year. A lot of implementation of system are imposed in our national and local sectors to control the behavior of the individuals but these systems, rules or policies do not work or even practice. Filipinos still commit wrong doings in contrary to the norms of the larger groups. Some are not afraid to commit mistakes or do some illegal acts because of Human Rights

Evidences shows, that a lot of top officials in the government who are guilty of graft and corruptions, the Pork Barrel for personnel use both local national sectors were given special treatment by the government but if one comes from the lower class or unfortunate one can easily put to jail because of no money, no connections and can not pay attorney to defense in his case in court.

Another one, is the MAGUINDANAO massacre , a lot of evidences were presented in court in contrary to the Ampatuan people but these criminals are still given special treatment. With this situation, the national government should form a committee to sit down and have a verified reviewed on the implementation of Human Rights . Some say that there is always a room for reform in terms of human behavior for those who committed wrong in our society that 's why Human Rights are imposed for changes among individuals.

In my analization based on my experiences, Human Rights should be limited, and give heavy punishment for those who are guilty for any crimes committed so as the number of crimes in the Philippines can be reduced and not to increase every year.

Take note . Philippines is the number one corrupt country in Asia, and ranked one of the ten countries in the world with more crimes committed. It is very shameful and embarrassing situation on the part of the Filipinos.