Before we lies a journey we all must travel: the world! That is dangerous place to live, not because of the people who are evil, but because of the people who don't do anything about it...

A journey whose length is not as important as the footprints we will leave behind for others to follow. Either way, we have the ability to make an impact upon this world, so long as we follow the leanings of our own heart rather than the desires of others. I look to a day when people will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character. If you judge people, you have no time to love them and an eye for an eye only ends up making the whole world blind...

We discovered that peace at any price has no peace at all. We discovered that life at any price no value whatever; that life is nothing without the privileges, the prides, the rights, the joys which make it worth living and also worth giving!

And whichever road we choose to walk, let it show that a good and noble person passed this way. And let it also show that we did not count our wealth in riches, but in how many walk this earth with humanity in their hearts, because the footprints we made in this life showed we walked in the footsteps of having peace to all mankind...

So let us join our hands and let us move us one... hand in hand we stand all across our land!!
