Extrajudicial killings do happen in our country. With this there are people killed without knowing who are the suspects are, victims' bodies are found everywhere and no justice has been served for the victims.

The most lawless killing happened in the Philippines and the first time in the history is the Maguindanao Massacre, happened in the hands of the most influential family, the Ampatuan. The victims were from the Mangungudatu (who was running against the Ampatuan for the mayoralty raise), some supporters and the others are from media, and a total of 57 people were killed. Their bodies were buried with the vehicles where they were killed.

Extrajudicial killings do not only happen in Maguindanao, these happen everywhere in the country, in any parts of the Philippines. These are the works of people who don't have conscience, have no fear from God.

I chose this topic because it has been years now that this issue has not been solved by the government. I hope this problem would stop and there would be no victims of this kind of injustices.
