

EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS

Ireen A. Doloso
BS Criminology
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

As an ordinary citizen of this country, I have experiences of seeing and hearing extrajudicial killings. Like I was in Boulevard, I was shock what was happening. There was a man full of blood in front of me. There were three men holding guns and were shooting the guy. I saw them shooting the guy. I was really shocked, and I didn't know what to do. I got mentally blocked. The second time was when I was at Negros Occidental, my father's hometown. I was with my parents at our grandparents' house. My father was a military. He was killed that day by NPAs. My mom and I saw everything what happened. There were four NPAs who attacked my father. He was able to kill 2 NPAs, eventhough he was already wounded from the knife and ice picks that the NPAs hit him.