

“How to save the environment”

Ainee T. Atilano
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City

As a human living in this earth, we have the responsibilities on how to save the environment. We must advocate others to anticipate in saving our environment. If we do this we are the once what will have the benefits in having a clean environment. We all know that as we grow old and disappear in this planet we must think that there will be a next generation after us. So, we should be a good model to save our environment, so that the next generation will do the same thing.

In saving our environment the simplest thing to do is just to not destroy our environment but to take care and save it. We can do it by planting trees. Clean the environment, by not smoking by throwing our garbage's in a proper place. If we do this we can save our environment.