For what I had read in the article, “Human rights are universal, indivisible and interdependent. Human rights are what make us human. When we speak of the right to life, or development, or to dissent and diversity, we are speaking of tolerance. Tolerance will ensure all freedoms. Without it, we can be certain of none.” Isn’t it amazing but nowadays human rights had changed.

I witnessed my home land how it changed, it was during the “hariraya eid’l fitri” or the celebration of Ramadan, older and younger Muslims mesmerizing the moment but suddenly the news was published that one of the mosque (masjid) in the Jolo Sulu was strike by the military during the ceremony, it was the scariest and bloodiest attack that I ever heard, I could never imagined that this will happened, many civilian died in different ages and those alive are captured with no legal evidence, it made me remained stationary at all times, there is something part of angriness that maybe lead for revenged but it’s just only a matter of loved to my fellow Muslims, the government forgot the human rights which one of this is respecting the religions, I don’t know it might be, I am over reacting in this situation, if I can confront God ( Allah), I want to ask him, why did this happened? I know for sure that only almighty god can answered the mysteries behind. God gave us everything but only respect to our neighboring religions was vanished, for me, it was the simplest attitude “RESPECT” however it doesn’t applied in this time.

In brief the human right that we inherent in each of us by virtue of the fact that we are members of the human species was loss but hoping for hope someday that the tolerance and mercy that gifted by God will pass into our new generations.
