Human rights as anything that is owed or due to a person which all others are bound to respect. But sometimes our rights are being abused by other people. Sometimes ignorance is the cause why other people are abusing. How can we use our human rights if they are being abused, just taken for granted? Like, to enter into private premises without search warrant, to take a person without proper warrant of arrest.

Everyone deserves to respect their human rights; it is given to us all freely. It is sad that the one should be protecting the rights of others, they are the ones abusing them. It is simply because of money. They are driven to do this just for money. They don't care other people's rights, as long they are rich. As a future police officer, I will uphold, protect and give importance the human rights of every Filipino citizen.
