Human Rights Abuses

There are a lot of cases that Human rights are being violated. Human rights are the rights of each individual. Like for an instance, me as a student, I have the right to education, in order for me to gain knowledge and learn. So I can have a good job for me to support myself and my family.

Human rights may even start even in the womb of a woman, the right to be born. Abortion is frequent nowadays because of unwanted pregnancies, especially of teenagers.

As a member of society, we have the right to vote or known as the right to suffrage. Have the chance to choose leaders that we think are the one that can help make the country. But how can you have this right if you allow others buy your votes. It's like you are selling you're right up front.

Another human right that is being violated is the right to equality. Unfortunately, in a third world countries like Philippines, there are people living below poverty line. It's a sad reality.
