“How to save the Environment”

Our environment is very important for us, it is where we live and it affects our daily living. A good and clean environment will reflect as to what kind of human being we are. Now a day we all know what kind of environment, but we people doesn't know how to take good care of it.

We people are capable of saving our environment, if we just know how to value it and learn to love it, we will surely have a wonderful environment. By just helping each other in cleaning and doing the proper way of caring for our environment like throwing of garbage properly, not burning plastics and proper usage of our natural resources we can help save our environment.
