Human rights are rights of every people in a society as being a human. These are sometimes referred to as freedoms. These are set of laws in our country. Wherein, these rights and freedoms are given freely to all. We have the freedom to fight for our rights, freedom to choose whatever we want. But there are limitations to these freedoms. We can't violate the rights and freedoms of other people.

But there are so many cases that we hear in the news that rights and freedoms of people are being violated. Women are being abused physically by their husbands, children are forced to work, and law enforcers abused the criminals. These are just some of abuses we hear from the news.

We need to stop these abuses. We should help other people from their misfortunes in life.
