

HUMAN RIGHTS

Lesrie Joy A. Monsales
BS Criminology
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

All I know about Human Rights is that each individual has his rights. And we have to respect it in order to have peace and harmony in our society. And the government will do their prime duty which is to serve and protect the citizen.

What I observed in our justice system nowadays is that there are no fair justices given to the people. If you are rich then the justice will be infavor of you, and the trial is fast. But if you are poor most of the times the trial will take time and even justice is not served because they have no money to avail of a lawyer. There are instances that money plays role in giving injustices. For example, a rich person killed an ordinary individual. But the rich person is charged of not guilty.

All I want is that our justice will be fair. As a future law enforcer I want to help uplift the degrading moral of our police officers. I hope there will be no corruption because it is against the right of the people. We have our government to serve us. And I want the peace and order will remain.