

HUMAN RIGHTS

Razul N. Latip
BS Criminology
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

Base on my understanding, when we say Human Rights, these are laws for the people. So this protects people from any harms and abuses that may incur to them. It's the government that implements this rights and freedom of every person. So they are the ones also protecting the people from crimes.

I guess government officials should uphold the rights and freedoms of the people they are serving. People are expecting them to protect them from any harm and danger.