All humans living on this earth has their human rights. We have freedom or we are in liberty. But of course there are responsibilities with it. We all have our own rights.

The freedom of speech or expression: we can speak what we feel is right and what we see that is something against our belief. The freedom we have to express our belief and respecting our religion. The right to file cases against people who did abuse us in one way or the other, may it be physically or verbally.
