

“The Human Rights”

Sabanal, Vaneza L.
School of Criminology Justice
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

Human right is rights and freedom o which all humans are entitled proponents of the concept usually assert that way. One is endowed with certain entitlements merely by reason of being human. Human rights are thus conceived in a universalism and egalitarian fashion such entitlements can exist as shared norms of actual human moralities as sustified moral norms or natural rights supported by strong reason, or as legal rights either at a national level or within international law however, there is no consensus as to the precise nature of what in particular should or should not be regarded as a human rights in any of the preceding senses and human rights means of respecting and without a harm act to gain our own selves and his human rights in our country is a law for does people abuses by the person on authority but cover there wrong full act.