Many years have passed before this organization developed. Police and military are provided for the maintenance of peace and order. Example here in the Philippines, they are given the power to control the peace and order of the community from criminal act, wrong doings or not acceptable with the norms of the society with direct contact to the people. But are the police-military doing their job according to the prescribed laws given to them? Do they function well on doing the right thing?

The population now become bigger and bigger. When the population of the community becomes bigger, we need also ore military to maintain peace and order in the community. Crisis is one of the reason why police-military abuses their police for their satisfaction and majority of the police have many vices like drinking alcohol, smoking and others. That is the start, they will commit crime and abuses by making money to the people of the community and thus people also give because they are afraid to the police. In vehicles, they will asked for money if you are going to pass in their area or checkpoint. They can do everything they want even though it is out the norms of the society and making wrongful act. Many police-military are not doing their job. They are always sitting for the whole day and eating. Because of police and military, some are not looking for what is happening to the surrounding but looking for their own self, how will they survive and how will they satisfy their life or every life.
