Abusing Power or Over use of Power

Sex crimes in the military is one example of abusing power or over use of power, when private Jessica Bleckley an army recruit lodged a complaint against her drill sergeant for sexual assault, the floodgates opened and the US Army found itself embroiled in the worst scandal and this scandal happened on November 8, 1996 a senior officer with the battalion announced that there male officers had been charged with rape assault, and sexual harassment against recruits under their command.

This kind of issues is so usual for us because we always experience abusing power or over use of power in our nation especially in our politics, there are many politicians that are abusing their power they just use their power for their self interest only and the one of that is the Maguindanao Massacre. There are many people died. It is very immoral, very disappointing to know that it is because only for their own interest. They are ready to kill people.

But we are not easily to abuse because every one of us has same rights. We should know about that no matter what s your position in life, even if you are rich or poor. If you break the law you are not excuse from it. We should not be afraid to the people that are using their power for their self interests. Only we should fight, we should stop this kind of activities that are very common today.

And I believe that president Aquino will do an action to really stop this kind of activities in our country because this is the one reason why we are not improving because the product of these activities is corruption. And corruption is the main problem of our country. I really hate people who are corrupt. Not just like the foreign countries that are improved. It is because they really do actions to make their nation better. If they can do change and improve their nations, we we can also do changes and improve Philippines.
