Peace, states peaceful, it means all of us has peace. Peace is very important not only to the people but also to the community they live in. Peace is one very important aspect in our lives. Peace is a thing that is very common to us. But not commonly found. Peace should start within us, in our hearts and mind.

Human rights state all of us have rights. The right to live, the right to know, the right to be who we are: these are just some examples of our rights.
