Police Brutality

Many of our police officers are making foolishness to other people, not only to innocent people but some of them are making it to their colleagues, especially those who are new.

There are some police that catch a criminal person and instead of bringing them to the police station, they bring them to a secluded place and start torturing. They will not stop torturing until the person will admit the crime.

They also do this to their colleagues. It's like hazing, they will also torture them until they are satisfied.

Police brutality has become accustomed or part of their job. But nowadays, if police officers are caught of this act, they are persecuted accordingly.
