Some of the Philippine National Police in our town do abuse people. There was an instance yesterday, a motorist didn't wear helmet and a police saw him. The police officer asked his license but the motorist didn't have license to show. The police officer asked for certain money which the motorist did, and the motorist was free of charge. They use their power to abuse civilians. There are times that police officers don't pay when they commute in public utility jeepneys. It's like a pass for them not to pay fare.
