Some police officers are acting like they are tough and strong because they know they are police officers and they are carrying guns. So they feel they are powerful. There are some policemen who don't pay when they ride in public utility jeepneys. There are also some police officers who are assigned at the market, sometimes they kick the vendors' goods and confiscate. Sometimes traffic policemen are confiscating the license of the drivers without any violation, and then they will ask certain amount to return back the license. There are militaries that will abuse their position and abuse civilians.
