Since the world has begun, there is no peace and human rights in this world. As we know the life of our grand, grandfather and grand, grandmother there is no peace in their hearts. In our country sad to say that our country belong to the list most feared country in this world

Violence happens enjoy every day, every now and then we hear violence of any sort, we can hear of domestic violence, wives being abused by their husband, children sexuality abuse by their father, students verbally abused by their teachers, a person killed in the street just because of simple traffic misunderstanding. Civilians being slaughtered because of political ambition a robber being tortured by policeman without clue process, and recently foreigners being held hostage by a discharge police offer, which caught the attention not only of the Filipino people but people over would, putting once again, our country on the newspapers around the globe.

These are just some of the violence happening around us which suppressed the right of every one involve. The right of every women against domestic violence, the right to have a harmonies home.

The right of every child to enjoy youth without having trauma of what they person who committed a crime to due process of law, which was clear stated in our constitution, that every suspect is pressured innocent until proven guilty.

The right of every victim, that justice they deserved, especially those victims involve prominent familiar as their rapist, which sad to say, oftentimes, just get away with a crime they have committed.

The right of every to be treated with respect by their teacher, because as the saying goes the youth are the hope of our nation, what would happen to the next generation if we do not take care of every child rights. what happens to the right of that hostage taker who just wanted to be heard by our governments his side of the story, but instead cost him his life, but off course we will not forget that the ancient caused so much misery, not only to the suspects family and children, but also beauty of our country but end up dead. This incident caused a stir on the senate and other government sector.

What about the rights of those innocent civilian, which includes pregnant woman, a mother, sister and member of the media which who wanted to stay political powerful.

Someday where is justice in this. There are some who puts the blame on the government for what happened. But haven't we realized that it happened for a reason, that it serve an eye opener to all of us, that we should stop blaming anybody, because that we in one way or another is part of all this.

If we want peace, let start within us in our homes, let us learn to have more patience, be more understanding, and always have a forgiving heart. if we doing this then maybe someday, there will be no more violation of every person right to live peacefully.
