

PEACE AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Jemma Ceniza

Nursing Department

Universidad de Zamboanga-Ipil

Zamboanga Sibugay Province, Philippines

Without peace, I think our nation's democracy is at stake then all people will no longer understand each other because peace for me, to be honest of our self and to the people so that all people will understand to one another is to respect human rights.

In my own understanding, human right must be practiced and not abused. Thus, if you are in the right position, then fight because sometimes based in my observation there are some people who fight with wrong ability or the wrong way. If you are honest and good, you will not do that to the other people. So, if they want to became peaceful in our country, do not be dishonest all people around you. If you believe that they have human right, be careful as to what you do, because some people around you who has committed to you will commit mistake by misunderstanding you.

If you think that a group that's nonsense, please don't join because sometimes the group can be bad influence to you and that will be the beginning of sin or wars. So, better avoid. I also observed that there are some people even though they are wrong he/she insist that they are correct. What they even thought is wrong but maybe it's just me.

I guess the real problem oftentimes is the definition of right and wrong. This is always the starting point of conflict.