

Peace and Human Rights

KIM JOWIE R. RECAMARA

Universidad de Zamboanga-IPIL

Zamboanga City, Philippines

One of the most common problems we are facing now is how to achieve WORLD PEACE and how to exercise our freedom to use our HUMAN RIGHTS. It is considered as one of the great challenges of our leaders to solve this dilemma of life aside from economic crisis we are facing now. As we observed, nowadays, wherever we may go the presence of crime, corruption, extrajudicial killings, hostage crisis and other violence that contravenes the law are always subsisting and even our rights as human beings didn't give us the chance to accentuate it or even expressing it. To have peace and to have freedom to use our human rights is very substantial in our daily lives. For it makes us to be an abiding citizen to the law of our country and to develop camaraderie for the succession or for the prosperity of our fatherland or for our state. We can have peace and freedom for our human rights depends how people deals with it, use with it and how individuals use their perfect knowledge about the importance and essence of peace and knowing the benefits that we can get from our human rights. Peace is a means of or denotes tranquility, solemnity and quietness that should be developed to foster understanding, cooperation and friendship among other people.

Building culture of peace always goes with human rights. That culture of peace creates an atmosphere of freedom and universal respect, where all human rights are upheld and protected of equality between woman and man as peers and partners and as well as the relationship of the state and the citizens. A culture of peace values justice and pursues sustainable development, respects the integrity of cultures and the natural environment and promotes social order based on equal human rights, the human dignity of all persons and reverence for living creatures and life systems. We can attain this if we people tends to be educated to the value of human solidarity, mutuality and justice, and learn the skills that enable us to renounce all forms of violence and take peace as away of life." How can we imagine life if we achieve the peace that we want and the fair treatment or equality being given to us by the society and our state? Perhaps, we can live life peacefully to the fullest and we can now express freely our complaint and distress about the governance, violence and any other contrary that results to break the law of our fatherland. One of the most common mistakes now in every country is how they govern their fellow citizens. They did not allow the citizen to express their freedom and their complaint regarding with their sufferings about the governance, which it results to the rebellion of the citizen. One example of this, are those country who inherit communistic government. Even here in our country, we are using democratic governance but still we may see the different injustices and inequality of the leaders to the whole citizenry. Just to take this example, a person who is being murdered which up to now didn't receive the justice of their death. The hostage crisis happens at the Quirino grandstand, the increasing number of gang rape, the brutality of police and even the graft and corruption that up to now our state didn't give such supplementary and immediate action to dwell on this problem. They are just focusing on one problem, which is our economic standing, but in the other side of the problems we are facing, they just neglect it or they just give less importance with it. Now, how can we achieve the peace that we want to attain if there are so many hindrances to arrive with the said culture of peace? Peace as we observed now is a rare commodity in today's world. People love to make such violence that disobeys the law of the state. This is evident by the wrong governance of the leaders and the lack of appreciation and protection of the rights of individuals. If the government gives such action to overcome this prejudices and intolerance within the minds and hearts of every human person in all nations and in the global community, definitely we can have world peace. A committed leadership is also important in the life of a peaceful nation. In such leader should perform their responsibilities with dedication and integrity, the willingness to give freedom for each individual and protects the right of compatriots. To go further, we must consider and interpret what human right is. Human rights determine the relation of individual in state in terms of rights and responsibilities and its pattern of instructions. Human right is a set of forms that refer to our rights, norms, and standard and promote human dignity and freedom and human rights are always binds by laws. Through this definition, we may come up that we should value our rights because it covers our dignity and our freedoms in life and our power to our relationship to our state. Respecting for human rights is very important in achieving a just, humane, and peaceful society. That similarly how we respects individual differences, shows cooperation, integrity, promote peace, knows our responsibility and take positive actions to promote peace. It must be also recognized that at the bottom of all efforts to build a just and peaceful society is the presence of a creative goodwill in a persons. It is virtue that seeks not self-interest but the good of others. It also seeks fairness and justice in relationships and in social structures. Social structures, for instance, laws and other organizations, policies, must be ensure that no groups are oppressed and discriminated against or even social and cultural differences should never be a reason for discrimination and oppression.

Peace must begin each one of us. We should be able to know what peace is all about. Through deeper understanding with peace, we can promote peace and we can share it to others. As well as our rights, we should have freedom to express it neither to show it because it is our strength and power to live peacefully in life. We should fight for our right for the prosperity of our country. Our state must listen what are the complaint of their citizen to know what they should do for the betterment of this country. Since we are in democratic government, we should able to have freedom to express what we want to say to our. And leaders should give the citizens a chance to express it. Every citizen possesses different rights that binded by law, the right to life, the right to be educated, the right to be respected, the right to be loved and be loved and many other rights that is very essential to human beings. If the government will respects all the rights of every individual, we can attain peace. For being to be respected and have freedom is the beginning of peace and peace is the beginning of solidarity and unity of every individual to promote common goals. But as an individual, we have also mistakes to be considered why we don't have peaceful life. Our lack of discipline is the mainly reason why we are about to be in the process of chaotic world. We are keeping on violating rules even simple rules we did not give the chance to respect it. Because sometimes, we people have the mannerism to do all things even if it is beyond to the field of law. We are the one also breaks the wall and the boundaries which was being build by our government. We did not put any limitation to express our rights. That's why maybe; our government also did not respect us. We all know all things here on earth even our rights has the following limitation to be considered in order to avoid such discrimination towards others, avoid them to step on our rights and avoid inequalities that will result in breaking the relationship of the states and of the citizens.

All this form of conflicts can be resolved, if we, individuals know how to control abuseness to the state or control the abuse of power and honor the aforementioned values of non-violence, cooperation and justice. Our state also, must know how to appreciate individuals' right so that presence of conflict is avoided. They should also see what the wants of individuals are, so that citizen may also be satisfied to their governance. The world may at peace requires and oblige individuals to cooperate each other and joining hands for peaceful living, we should have all the patience and perseverance or effort to express our rights and share our peace. We must also consider education as a tool in promulgating peace to our hearts and in expressing our rights. Through this, we may take some better alternative action that would give freedom and peace in ourselves and in our society. Because through education, it makes the person to value and give more importance to their attitudes, characteristics as human beings and make them as a truly whole person. That reject all forms of violence and always think optimistically and use their rights in a positive way that will not result in breaking the strong foundation of the state and of the citizens but instead it results to prosper peace among their hearts. The relationship between states and citizen is very important for the fact that this relationship will build a strong foundation of solemnity and tranquility, which the world badly needed. Moreover, it denounces all chaos and violence that will really affect the whole citizenry. The consistent relationship of both of them will help to break down all the barriers to express our human rights as well as in promoting peace. This ideal type of relationship will be the best solution of the problems that we are facing now, which is how to have freedom in our rights and how to achieve world peace." GOD had said: let there be peace here on earth..."God want us to live peacefully. He does not want all chaos that will dominate in our society and as well as in the heart of every individual. He does not want to see us fighting each other for a nonsense reason. He wants us to love each other and respects each other to live life peacefully. Moreover, leaders must take focus to this. Leaders should not use their power to abuse individuals' right. They should administer the society, act with compassion, commitment and ability to protect his fellow citizens so that people will trust them, and give their full support for the sake of the nation's peacefulness and to alleviate prejudices. Above all this, God is the center of all. We should trust him that peace will always prevail above all these circumstances. We should not be weak and allow somebody to break the good future that God tend to lend us. We should be an abiding law and avoid making such violence. We should not allow anybody to step on in our rights because we have the rights to express of what we have. We should use our freedom in a productive and positive way of living. That we should impose limitation in exercising it and respects the gap between us and other people to avoid such conflict that will hinder in spreading peace.

To have peace and to have freedom of our rights help us to be a supporting citizen of our nation that which we are able to give importance of individuals right and give us wisdom how to build relationship with others without discrimination and injustice and build relationship that shows equalities. We are able to learn more things how peace will be promoted and developed and how to use our rights without the bad effects to promote peace. Peace and Human rights are the most pleasurable treasure that we have. For it make us developed ourselves to be more sensitive and responsible enough in promoting peace and how we uphold our rights to others and molds us to be truly human with dignity, integrity and social responsibility that will ensure and guarantee us for a better and peaceful community.