

PEACE AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Marvilyn Guerra

Nursing Department

Universidad de Zamboanga-Ipil

Zamboanga Sibugay Province, Philippines

Peace and human rights are two-prong screw that covers a very huge concept. In order to achieve a genuine peace, understanding the human rights is vital. Human rights is defined as the right of any individual to have an equal rights as of others to have an access to the resources and to protect one's rights. But any rights must be subject to certain limitations and must be in context with a particular law, meaning no right is absolute.

We can say that peace and human rights are related to each other it's because human is responsible for his actions. What you act reflects your personality, the very single thing you do can contribute and change the world.

That's why my dream for this world is that every human being living in this world will be saved as God-fearing and a good servant. I believe that if everyone received salvation this world will achieve peace. And this world will never be in the dark, not condemn, we could never experience this hardship, no more war, trouble, crime, the crisis that we experience but instead peace, joy, happiness, love will exist in this world. Everyone will enjoy and satisfy life, no poor, no hunger, no slaves, no one will suffer because instead of suffering everyone receives blessing. This world will change, be cleanse by God as He will heal our land.

I am encouraging everyone to live life to the fullest, conserve our environment and respect every living thing. Let us all promote and unity in this world. We wanted the best for this world, the changes of this world. We want to have a good politics, clean and honest government, no corruption and no illegal deeds.

We want it but if you really want to have it, remember first "changes come from us". It is possible to change everything that's why, be a responsible enough and be a good citizen. We don't have to blame others always but instead help and do things for the goodness of all. Don't always blame other people for what is happening now! Because you yourself also got mistake recognize also yourself and your mistakes.