There is a question in my mind, why they heed to kill others to be satisfied of having revenge? Every new that we are watching there is always a crime involve. Our government is doing their best to avoid having crime, but why crime is always there? Is it part of our life? We cannot enjoy our leaving here if we can always hear about that, I felt that I am living in a zoo because a cant understand my companion, I don't know how to treat them like what a human beings attitude. My mind will be unpeaceful and also my heart.

“We need justice”, that phrase is so common to hear because this phrase is usually altered by those families/people that need justice for their love ones. One reason of having an unpeaceful life is because of disobeying human rights.

As I observe nowadays in our country, the people became bad; doing things that can affect the living of other people. For me, we cannot blame other people to have an unpeaceful living because peace start from our own self, if we have peace in our own I'm sure that we can live peacefully because you cannot give the things if you don't have it; respecting and accepting other people can help to have a peaceful living. You must know how to treat fair to those people around you. If you have this kind of character you know how to obey rules and know what "Human Rights" mean. My mind was divided into two, whether I'll blame the government or the people who made those bad things. If I have a chance to talk those people, the best question that I will ask, if what is the main reason why they did those bad things. In my own opinion, people who made those bad things is just to be able to survive and feed their family. As we heard from the news, their answer is just like that, ika nga nila "Kapit sa patalim" (according, holding on to the sharp edge) just to survive. Majority of those people who made this is those people who don't have work and have their own family. I know that our government is looking for the solution of this problem.

Peace is essential to all. Peace can be brought through good relationship in the society, giving value to right things and making a better interaction toward people. Every individual needs to be socially aware especially our fellows. Achieving such kind of good relationship can make each of us feel accepted and it gives ourselves a feeling of worthiness. People have the right to be accepted especially to their differences and any aspect of their being. Each has a specification and is needed to be understood. Differences of people is normal.

Discrimination is one of the reason of having an unpeaceful life because if you discriminate other people your just showing them that they are worthless here in the world, they feel discourage of their life of who and what they are, if the time come and if they fell disparate they will think to revenge to those people who made their life unreasonable in this world, and it might affect this action to other people.

Each one of us is different. We cannot avoid having conflict with others because of our own understanding and beliefs that's why we have to obey what we call "Human Rights", without this we cannot have a peaceful living because we don't know how to accept other people.

In our individuals, we have right to do anything but it has a limitation, to avoid misunderstanding or conflict with others. Misunderstanding is he one reason of having an unpeaceful living, we cannot avoid of having an attitude that what we call "Hindi Magpatalo"

(don't want to be at the losing side) because we don't want to be step on by other people. We are so lucky of having human rights because we can fight for our own good to have a peaceful living.

Without human rights, we know how to abuse the life of other people, the world will have a flood of blood, the life will be shorter and most of the entire world will be occupied by demons, we don't even know who is God in our life, we are thinking that everyone of us is the most powerful among. I am prefer to be unborn that to live in a bloody world.
