Every one of us has the right to live and enjoy life. Life would be more fulfilling and even becomes more indispensable if this is not being abused or intimidated by violators themselves. Rights serve the ultimate power for human beings, we exercise our rights because it is free and inferable no matter how it is difficult to practice, so long as we know our human rights, these are to be fought for. Human rights in the Philippines, are extremely confusing a lot of cases in the courts have been become pending and trivial for these are not given attention and significant attributions, especially for poor and pity people. Human rights in the Philippines have been invoked inconsequential paralyzed in nature, and even not observed well. That's why we should act now like real law abiders and not a perpetrators or violators of ourselves. And we should observe every right that sets for us, so that we will not be ignored even every little thing of it. Because in the end, still our rights have the ultimate power for human kind. It is time to wake up and fight our human rights, see the importance of it, and we should not be afraid to exercise these, so that will be continuously abused and perpetrated, for many reasons these are the only weapons and shield to protect one's dignity.
