

Human Rights

Sulminda A. Imao

School of Allied Medicine

Universidad de Zamboanga

Zamboanga City, Philippines

We the human being have our own rights and privacy in our life. We are created in this world equally by our Almighty God, that's why as a human being we have the rights to be respected and to be treated very well. And because of that, laws and regulation are created in this world. So, that each of us will have the chance to speak out and fight for our own rights. As a human being we must have same rights no rich, no poor because we are all equal created by God. But then, in reality right and justice is only for some but not for everyone. In this world we cannot really remove the fact that there are such people who are very fortunate in their lives and there are also who are unfortunate. Most especially in this generation, poverty arises in each country of the world and inequality is shown.

So , the people who have power (money) as always the rights and get justice easily, as if justice is already in their own hands now, while the people who are poor or the people don't have any power doesn't even get the chance to speak out and fight for their own rights. Human rights is not only for the rich people, it's for all mankind. Because of many situations that are happening in this world, I can say now that justice is not for everyone and it is really bad because each of us has the freedom to speak for our rights. But I do believe someday, in a right time, in a right person and in a right leader we can achieve the equality of human rights in this world. We all need equality.

Every person is born with freedom and equal rights. As such, human rights must be exercise for peace and harmony.