How amazing is our earth? Well, a little information that really made me amaze is that orbit of the earth is elliptical, there are times where it is away from the sun and close to the sun that's why the length of the day and night is not uniform throughout the year, but it is so disgusting when we are about to think on what's going on now around us.

Latest inventions are everywhere, we are modern on shall we say high messing up our planet day by day. So much talk, publicity, so many campaigns but so little has been done to help save mother earth. We have limited air but still we are pollution it not knowing what will be effect if it we should be consider the next generation for them to utilize fresh air too.
