Love, we know what the meaning of love is, but how come we can't show it to the earth? Everything starts with a question. Do you really love the earth? How come you can't save her? Are you taking her for granted? If you're a human who have love, care, conscience for mankind then why won't you show it to the earth?

Many people suffer from many calamities, why? Simply because we destroy the earth, we're making it polluted that's why many things happen like the weather changes suddenly, we cutting down trees for our own benefits and we're not thinking of planting new ones. Remember to see you naked is to recall earth.

Eventhough you can speak for others for their rights if you can't do it, its' useless eventhough you have your own name if you don't know yourself well or your identity it's useless also. If you want our civilization to continue do favors for Mother Earth and that is love her, show you care, help her to regain her beauty and wellness. If you'll help her, she'll be thankful for it not only you but everyone. We should do something to save her from vanishing, unity is the key to help her, if everyone unite to help her there is a big possibility to regain everything to normal.
