

Our Human Rights as Filipino

By: Limpalan, Omar I.
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

The recognition of the inherent dignity and of the equal and inalienable rights of all members of the human family is the foundation of freedom, justice and peace of our nation.

Regardless of our religion, race, age, socioeconomic status, educational attainment and sexuality, we are born equal in the eyes of GOD and in the context of our LAW. This has been rightly proclaimed by the American declaration of independence and has been enshrined by our Constitution. But for how many years now, our country caught the attention of the United Nation authorities, with the outrageous number of extra judiciary killings in our country. Base on statistics and even just by watching daily news show on television, we can't deny the fact that there are countless human rights violations occurring almost in every corner of our country and majority of the violators are actually government authorities and even law enforcers which surprisingly have immunity for prosecution. So clearly our government has a weak advocacy on Human Rights laws.