

Peace and Human Rights

By: Bustillo, Murfhy-Ann
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

The fruit of the work for justice is peace; the work for peace is call of the moment. Building a culture of peace is a dynamic, complex and multidimensional process which involves changing values, beliefs and behaviors.

As a student who believed that this earth could have peace, provided all is willing to care for our integral human rights that it is always a provident for us it is ready in the future. Follow our desire to have peace in mind and heart, show morality, equality in sharing blessings with others. State a limitation beyond your strength and expectation to cope up things in the brighter side.

Let us work hard for our betterment, rely our necessities in our own hands to use our common sense and learned to transform you to be more to be more educated and responsible for our nation. Contribute as much as you can!