Peace is the key to the development of every country, if peace is existing now a day, we as a citizen of our country live harmoniously and free to do things that we want which may develop ourselves as a human being. But today peace does not exist anymore, many crimes had been reported, people committing immoral act for their survival. There is no peace everywhere, either in a small society to a large one, peace is what we as a good citizen and human being were being deprived from now and then. But it's possible that we sooner may attain peace not just in our own country but peace worldwide, we just have to start it with ourselves but peace worldwide, we just have to start it with ourselves and share it to others, live peacefully with one another.
