

“Saving the Environment”

Jalani, sherfa Ainee S.
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City

The world is facing different kind of environment problems. As the population grows the more the problems become serious every individual can contribute to these problems in their own peculiar way. Throwing their garbage in proper place is just a big step to save the environment. They should make sure that their garbage do not blacken the way of streams and rivers as well.

They can avoid air pollution by not burning anything they can think for any possible alternatives by recycling the plastic and cans they can collect from their garbage's. there are so many ways, simple way to save the environment we just really have to use our initiatives.