We, Filipinos are always saying that we need to save our mother earth. But, in the case of our country, do we save it? I think we are just destroying it. Well, some of us are really making some efforts to save our mother earth. But, why only some? It should be all of us. Because whether we like it or not, we must. Besides, it is also for our own sake.

It was then that our mother earth started from quiet, peaceful, clean, and beautiful surroundings. Now, here comes the so-called Global Warming. Some people always complain about this although they didn't do anything about preventing it. Like for instance, pollutions released by factories and pollutions came from vehicles may lead to global warming. This condition affects mostly humans, as we can see; we are now experiencing this climate change wherein it is already a sort of burden to us.

Global warming is just one basic example why our mother earth is near its end. This is also a basic problem wherein there are basic solutions.

Therefore, I conclude that as early as possible, humans must make a move in order to prevent this global warming, not only global warming but all the problems that the mother earth is now encountering before anything happens in addition.

Don't let the time be wasted; it's time for a change!
