

IT STARTS WITHIN THE FAMILY

By: Moena M. Idjing,

Associate Radiologic Technology
School of Allied Medicine (SAM)
Universidad De Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

Problems, crisis, and other complicated situations are just part of our everyday life; neither it is too big to handle or not such in natural way or manmade in origin. Some people encompass this kind of trial; some are just trapped, maybe because others have not seen the solutions for it. For instance, the situation happened in barangay Mampang and Talon-Talon killing is very rampant almost everyday people were murdered. The officials in the city were very alert, in order for them to have peace and order, they had assigned lots of policemen and even checkpoints to monitor the people goes in and out of the said barangays for even the innocents are involved in the killings and with no exact point of reasons for it. However as good results from their continuous monitoring, killings/murders in the area were almost abolished. Working hand in hand with the officials, policemen and most especially with the cooperation of the citizens in the barangays, now the people can freely go to town without fear from being killed while on their way, on the other hand reporting strangers to the closest official like the barangay captain can also help in pointing the culprit.

There are many aspects that can help in just a little way to make a difference and avoid further problems that starts within a circle of family. Good communication and good way of interaction are just one of the aspects. A family with a calm and not aggressive type of personality can greatly contribute in avoiding misinterpretations that may lead to different problems. Parents should set as a good example and should impose good manner and right conduct because these aspects will go along with their children who are very open to the community when it comes to day to day interactions. Like a very famous quote said “youth is the hope of the fatherland” so, good example should set first within a family for it goes as years past by. Finally, people with good communication and good interaction will have a peace in their mind and also to the people around them.