

Peace is Happy

By: Alrasid O. Akmad, BS in Pharmacy
School of Allied Medicine (SAM)
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

I am a college student at the present. Like others, I want peace. And I want to promote it inside my classroom like to prevent my classmates from getting into trouble. At home like maintaining a good relationship within the family. Anywhere I go, I want peace to be by my side.

One example of war is the discrimination among black and white Americans. They had war that ruined their entire nationality. It is a big shame on them because the children are the one being affected. I want to promote peace because I do not want to see my children get hurt and suffer from war.

If I were the leader, I will call upon my people to unify and observe peace. And if my plans were effective, then I made something in contribution to the promotion of hostility.

At the moment, I want to influence my friends in engaging in peace as much as possible. I can make an organization not like the fraternities. Mine is to maintain connection with others.

I am looking forward to make all of this possible so that I will be happy, they will be happy, everybody is happy.