The Philippines is a beautiful country. It has an environment that has many beautiful spots. Many people from many different countries come and see our country.

It is known for the beauty spots like the Mayon volcano, Chocolate hills, Banaue rice terraces and others which landscapes are beautiful to see

But nowadays, these beautiful spots are deformed; it changes its view because of soil erosion. Many things caused soil erosion; most of them are man made problems. People cut trees, get soil for gardening and destroy the land. Even what the government will say that it is bad to cut down trees.

Soil erosion is caused by big flood; the cutting of trees especially in the mountain causes big floods. Big floods bring down all the leftover from the cut down trees. If these will continue to happen all these beautiful spots will not be seen and enjoyed by the people. Our rivers and forest are also destroyed.
