My right as a student is I have the right to learn and gain knowledge to the teacher and classmates and to enhance my skills and many ways I have the right to educate and to commit my goal in life and I have the right to study my lesson. I have the right to express my feelings not only to my classmates and schoolmate but also to my teacher. I have the right to question regarding my lesson if I don't understand my lesson and I have the right to react during the discussion and as a student I have the right to share my knowledge and to share ideas. I have the right to participate during discussion no one can dictate me especially if I do my task as a good student. I have the right to become a responsible student. I have the right to comment regarding my grades because not all teachers are perfect in computing our grades. I have the right to suggest question if ever my teacher is always absent and he/she did not teach well during the discussion because learning is not a take place that is important that's why we must do our best as a student.
