To live life our own way is a universal right. But sad to say, many are called slaves. This is due to lack of knowledge about their rights. Equity is no longer seen nowadays. There are differences of classes of people in the society. Here is where this called “abuse” takes place.

If only we implement the right to inform others in knowing their rights to have equal treatment, then most probably, nobody would ever be having such inferno here on earth. This is truly discouraging. We people are concerned about our own selves but we harm others to attain something better. For an instance, Filipino people having Filipino slaves, treating them as if they are some sort of an animal. Very inhuman. Very shameful.

Some even kill people as if they were the ones giving the life one has. With or without law, people are righteous to do their part and will for as long as it is not harmful. This is what “HUMAN RIGHTS” really should be. No other aim but peace and equity.
