Student's right? What is the right of the students? I remember in my high school life. There was a teacher that we don't like. Every time this teacher gets in, the teacher is sitting only, and we are just waiting for that teacher to teach us. Some of my classmates decided to complain what the teacher is doing. What they do, is they make a letter, and we should sign it to prove that we don't want that teacher. And the worse is there are some section who wants to complain against that teacher.

As a student it is our right to complain, because our parents sent us to school to gain some knowledge, but it is useless that you are interested to listen, but your teacher is lazy to teach you.
